President in Medicare Plea Across Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kennedy administration, with the President leading the assault, has carried a plea for its medical care for the aged program across the nation in an attempt to bring pressure to bear on Congress. The American Medical Association goes on nationwide television tonight to counter the move.

While President Kennedy addressed 17,500 persons at New York City's Madison Square Garden Sunday, Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and other administration spokesmen sounded calls for support of medical care for the aged under Social Security at more than a score of rallies across the country.

Many listeners, including some gray-haired prospective recipients, said they were not sure of the benefits under the King-Anderson bill, which the President said would be passed "this year, or, as the tide comes in, next year." He noted that Britain adopted similar legislation 30 years ago.

The American Medical Association, which vigorously opposes the Kennedy-backed measure, takes to the air at 7 p. m. (EST), tonight in a network television program (NBC) designed to answer the administration.

The president of the association, Dr. Leonard W. Larson, blasted the bill and the rallies, saying the U.S. Treasury is being looked "in a massive propaganda blitz designed to pressure Congress" into enacting the program.

In a statement after the Kennedy speech, Larson said: "Giant Madison Square Garden rallies cannot conceal the fact: the King-Anderson bill would force an immediate 17 per cent payroll tax increase on workers earning $5,200 or more and their employers."

Larson described the measure as radical and said it would "give the federal government dangerous power to control medical practice in hospitals."

The AMA favors the present Kerr-Mills law, which provides for federal assistance to states but leaves administration of a program of medical care for indigents over 65 to the states themselves.

Under the King-Anderson measure, Social Security recipients would be eligible for medical aid financed through a Social Security payroll tax increase of one-fourth of one per cent on employees and employers.

The President said at least half the mail he has received on the bill has been "wholly misinformed" about its provisions.

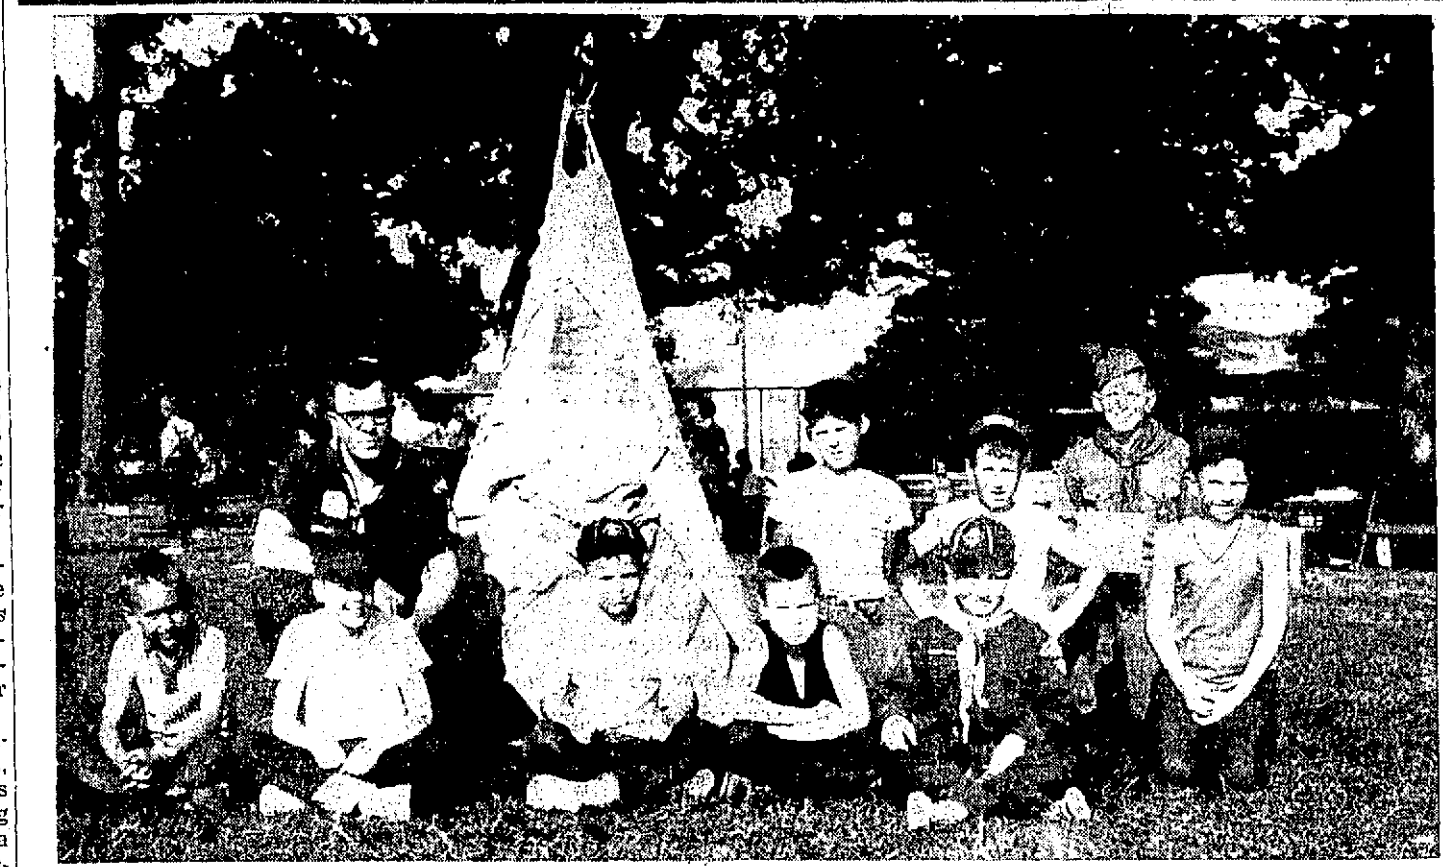

"This is not a campaign against doctors," he said, "because doctors have joined with us. This is a campaign to help people meet their responsibilities."

"We do not cover doctors' bills here. We do not affect the freedom of choice. You can go to any doctor you want, and you work out your arrangements with him. We talk about the hospital bill, and that is an entirely different matter."

Kennedy later visited briefly at Gracie Mansion with 106 mayors from across the country. The mayors, members of the Mayors Committee for Health Care for the Aged Under Social Security, were invited to attend the rally by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Vice President Johnson carried the administration plea to St. Louis where he told an openly partisan audience of more than a thousand that the program is a "sound, reasonable and dignified" approach to the health problems of the aged.

Cub Scouts Hold Indian Day Camp at Fair Park Saturday

Says Faubus Insincere, Deceitful

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Vernon Whitten, a Democratic candidate for governor, charged Saturday that Gov. Orval E. Faubus was guilty of broken faith, deceit, misrepresentation and insincerity in telling the people he would not run, then seeking reelection.

Whitten made his attack on Faubus in a televised speech. He charged that a screening board rejected several other candidates, then forced Faubus into the race.

He said, "The whole thing borders on fraud and conspiracy." Whitten did not say who was on the screening board, but said it operated as he said, then "A puppet is running for governor."

Faubus, in Russellville Saturday for an Armed Forces Day program, shied away from politics. He reviewed his World War II record to the 2,000 persons attending.

Other candidates have already torn into the Faubus administration, although the campaign hasn't hit its full stride yet. June 1 is the traditional kick-off time for gubernatorial campaigns in the state.

Whitten criticized Faubus for what he termed ruling the state by fear. He said fear is the reason that a constitutional constitution has not been called and the reason why many cities and towns did not protest his "broad-scale increase of natural gas rates" by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

He said the Faubus administration has reached "the brink of moral bankruptcy."

He cited as examples of "political immorality" in the administration:

"Conflict of interest activities; enactment of more than one legislative bill on the same subject, continued enactment and executive approval of local bills; extravagant and unprecedented spending and abusive uses of official power."

LAST SATURDAY AT FAIR PARK LOCAL CUB SCOUTS held an all-day Indian Day Camp. During the day the boys built tipis, displayed Indian crafts they had made during the year, played Indian games and held track events which were directed by Scouts Freddie McCulley, Terry Huffman and Edward Bodie. After a parent-son picnic supper the Order of the Arrow, made up of local Scouts, performed Indian dances.

Threatens Police, Man Is Jailed

LAKE VILLAGE, Ark. (AP) — Chicot County sheriff's deputies said here today they are holding a 21-year-old riverboat worker in jail on an open charge after he threatened to shoot his parents and held officers at bay from a barricaded house Saturday night.

No one was hurt.

Sheriff John Biggs identified the man as John Lowry. Biggs said Lowry quarrelled with his mother, Mrs. Pete Lowry, Saturday afternoon and fired at her when she left the house with a neighbor. He later phoned other neighbors and threatened to shoot his father when he came home from a fishing trip, Biggs said. Lowry said neighbors called deputies and the father was notified not to go home.

The sheriff said he and State Trooper Roy Hogg went to the house and tried to talk Lowry into surrendering. Lowry told them he would rather be killed than go to jail, Biggs reported.

Biggs said Lowry had "an arsenal" of rifles, pistols and shotguns in the house.

He said Lowry fired several shots from the house after officers were called to help get him out, but apparently wasn't shooting at anyone in particular.

Shortly before midnight, Biggs said, two tear gas grenades were fired into the house and Lowry came out unarmed. Biggs said Lowry would be taken to the State Hospital for an examination.

TORREON, N.M. (AP) — A school bus containing about 35 children was involved in a collision today. First unconfirmed reports said six or seven children may be dead and 25 injured.

State police had no details on the accident.

They said the injured were taken to Cuba in four ambulances. Four airplanes were dispatched from Farmington and two from Crownpoint to aid in the rescue operations.

Site of the accident is in remote northwestern New Mexico Indian country about 80 miles northwest of Albuquerque.

State police said the accident, of an undetermined nature, took place south of Johnson's Trading Post on the Star Lake Road.

Winners in the "Poppy Poster Contest" sponsored by the Junior members of the Leslie Huddleston Unit 12 of the American Legion Auxiliary are Miss Barbara Reese daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reese and Miss Kathy Lewis; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis.

Barbara's poster will be entered in the class three division for high school students for state competition and Kathy's poster will be entered in the Class One Division for elementary grades.

Posters by Douglas Byrd and Pat Westbrook also deserve honorable mention.

Faculty to Tour School Branch Site

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Ouachita Baptist College faculty and officials moved here Saturday to tour facilities of the old Naval Ordnance Depot where a division of the school is planned.

Dr. Ralph T. Phelps, president of the Arkadelphia college, said the new division may become the first technical school to be operated by a Baptist group.

Phelps outlined two purposes for foundation of the school—expansion of crowded facilities and the opportunity to train students to work in any industry that may locate in the Camden area.

The sprawling depot has been leased by Brown Engineering Co. of Houston, Tex., which is trying to attract industry to the site. The school facilities would be leased from Brown, Phelps said.

Phelps said there has been considerable interest in the school so far and he expects about 200 students to enroll for the first class. Courses offered, he said, will depend on demand.

The faculty members and other officials also held the annual spring picnic at the depot. The picnic was sponsored by the Camden Chamber of Commerce.

Reception, Ball to Honor Princesses

A reception and ball, honoring the Poultry Princess and their escorts, will be held Friday May 25th in the old gym of Hope High School. Activities are scheduled to get started at 10:30 with Rotarians and their wives as hosts and hostesses.

Music will be furnished by an orchestra from Texarkana with the Balladeers, a singing group from Texarkana College, providing some additional entertainment.

"This is a fitting climax to the Poultry Festival and the Rotarians are spending a considerable amount of time and effort to make this the highlight of the day's activities," said Haskell Jones, general chairman of the Festival.

Advance tickets priced at $1 per couple, may be purchased at the C of C office. They will also be available at the gym immediately following the Princess Pageant. The public is invited.

3-Car Accident Causes Damage

Friday on South Main St. an auto driven by Lynn Jones, Palmers, pulled away from the curb into the path of another car driven by A. A. Marlar of Lewisville. The Marlar car knocked the Jones car into a third parked car owned by Ivan Bright of Hope. Mr. Marlar suffered a cut on the knee.

All three cars suffered fender, bumper and body damage. City Officers Rowe and Clark charged Jones with hazardous driving.

Youth Runs Into Truck, Not Hurt

Jerry Dell Phillips, 6-year-old, ran into the side of a truck driven by G. E. Neal Saturday. The incident occurred on North Spruce street. City Officers Rowe and Shirley and State Policeman Guy Downing investigated. The youth apparently was not badly hurt, officers said.

Contempt Rulings Against 6 Red Suspects Voiced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court overturned today the contempt convictions of six persons who balked at answering questions from congressional committees investigating Communist activities.

The high tribunal, in an opinion by Justice Stewart, said the convictions had to be set aside because the indictments returned by the grand jury against the six failed to identify the subject under congressional subpoena in inquiry at the time each witness was interrogated.

Stewart said Congress had expressly provided that no one could be prosecuted for refusal to answer questions of congressional investigators except upon indictment by a grand jury.

"This court has never decided whether the indictment must identify the subject which was under inquiry at the time of the defendant's alleged default or refusal to answer," Stewart continued.

He then stated that the court today was holding that the indictment must contain such an averment, and for this reason the judgments against the six had to be reversed.

Estes Probe to Start Today in Washington

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — N. Battle Hales, an Agriculture Department employee who says he can prove Texas financier Billie Sol Estes got favored government treatment, may tell his story today on Capitol Hill.

Hales was expected to be one of the leadoff witnesses as the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., begins taking testimony behind closed doors on Estes' tangled affairs.

The Agriculture Department has vigorously denied Hales' allegations. He said he could prove his story if he were heard by a congressional committee.

Two other men who have figured in the Estes case also were expected to testify before the McClellan group. One, Carl Miller, approved a $700,000 bond posted by Estes for storing government-owned surplus grain and since has been transferred to another job. The other, William E. Morris, was sacked by the department last month after he reportedly admitted receiving a gift hat from the 37-year-old Estes.

The Senate subcommittee is trying to find out if Estes received favored treatment from government officials as he built a multimillion-dollar empire on some of the nation's largest grain storage and liquid fertilizer installations and vast cotton holdings.

Estes' enterprises have crumbled recently. He was indicted on fraud charges for raising money on nonexistent fertilizer tanks and is under a heavy fine on charges of misusing federal acreage allotments.

Until Hales was transferred to another job—he says it was because of the Estes case—he helped review investigative reports of irregularities in the cotton program. Hales said Estes' activities should have been turned over last winter to the Justice Department for criminal action and by not doing so his superiors gave Estes what amounted to favored treatment.

Hales formerly was assistant to Emory Jacobs, a deputy administrator of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service who resigned after testimony before a Texas court of inquiry about alleged gifts of clothing from Estes.

The subcommittee is expected to swing into public hearings in about a month. Somewhere along the line, Estes, who is free on $100,000 bonds, is likely to testify. He has been subpoenaed.

In Franklin, Tex., a grand jury today holds a hearing into the mysterious death of Henry Marshall, a Texas farm official who had been looking into Estes' dealings in cotton allotments.

Marshall, 52, was found dead June 3, 1961, shot five times with a bolt-action .22-caliber rifle. An official ruling of suicide was issued.

On the eve of the Senate subcommittee's session it was learned that federal investigators were trying to find out if Estes, who is legally bankrupt, has millions stashed away in Switzerland and Brazil. The FBI, Internal Revenue agents, the Senate subcommittee and the State Department all were said to be looking into the matter.

Battle for Farm Program Is Promised

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana promised today an all-out fight in the Senate for President Kennedy's new farm program aimed at reducing millions of dollars in costs and surpluses.
"But it's a difficult piece of legislation," the soft-spoken Democratic leader told a reporter. "It may take most of the week."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., senior GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee and a veteran of congressional farm battles, agreed in a separate interview that senators face a dispute that may echo in this year's congressional elections.

"This administration has been playing favoritism with its farm programs and the farmers are not asking the drastic proposals it advances," the white-haired Vermont senator said.
While the Senate argues about the farm programs, House leaders have called for action Wednesday on a new authorization of nearly $4 billion for the nation's space programs.

Routine matters are listed for House action today and Tuesday with no votes scheduled. The space authorization carries $3,742, 162,000, which is $111 million below the President's request.

Agriculture outlays in recent years have been around $6 billion a year. Another $9 billion is tied up in storage of surplus corn, wheat, cotton and other commodities.

As reported by the Senate Agriculture Committee, the 84-page bill retains few of the Kennedy administration's original requests.

Dropped completely was a dairy support program involving supply controls and a light acreage and marketing control proposal for corn and other livestock feed grains.

Mansfield said the effort to restore this latter proposal will be led by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Sen.
Richard B. Russell, D-Ga.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Senate that he would seek to amend the bill with a substitute dairy section.

In place of the mandatory supply controls removed by the committee, Proxmire proposed price supports of up to 90 per cent of parity for dairy producers voluntarily agreeing to produce no more than their 1961-62 base.

Neither the administration request nor the Senate bill would make any changes in federal programs for basic crops produced in the South, including cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts.

Show of the Week Tries Everything

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television/Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Show of the Week" series, which has tried just about everything from documentary to musical comedy this season, with, for the most part, disappointing results, essayed an adult war drama Sunday night.

At least, I'm pretty sure it was an adult war drama: Sal Mineo in a week's growth of beard played a trigger-happy soldier and was permitted to use cuss-words a couple of times.

The show was called "A Sound of Hunting," adapted from a Broadway play of a number of seasons back. It didn't get far then and it was pretty static and talky Sunday night. It concerned a World War II Army squad in a forward position fretting about a comrade pinned down by an enemy machine gun. The squad members revealed their character reaction to the man's plight.

Can they withdraw without trying to save their comrade? Not if you know your war drama — or more likely, the characters. There were the wisecracking fellow with the heart of gold, the worrier, the homesick boy — all larger than life and all true.

Old cowboys, it must be apparent, never die — not on television anyway. They don't even fade away. "Wyatt Earp," "Bat Masterson," Roy Rogers, Hopalong Cassidy, and most of the others who have finished their prime-time first runs are still very much around on the repeat circuit.

"The Rebel," which left ABC after one season, will pop up in repeats on NBC as Joey Bishop's summer replacement. Vintage half-hour "Gunsmoke" programs will be re-repeated on CBS for the summer, also in prime time. And now, "The Law of the Plainsman," the silly horse opera about an Indian marshal with a Harvard degree which had a short life some time back, will be repeated in "The Rifleman's" ABC spot during hot weather months.

and Mrs. Ben Edmiston. Poppy posters were judged and the winning entry was Barbara Reese in the Class 3 Division and Kathy Lewis in the Class 1 Division. Two other entries were by Pat Westbrook and Douglas Byrd. The meeting was concluded after punch and cookies had been served to nine members.

DOROTHY DIX

Her Father, the Man Who Came to Dinner

By HELEN WORDN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My mother and father divorced 10 years ago. He drank, she nagged. He was 20 years older than she. No matter how hard I worked in the house — and it was hard for our home had neither running water nor inside bathroom — nothing was right. "It'll be different when I marry," I kept telling myself. "I'll have a nice home and a husband who loves me." And that's just what I've got.

After two years of married life (we're both going on 20), we were happy as turtle doves until father came. Now, our heaven's fast turning into hell and it doesn't seem fair. My sister had him for awhile after he got out of an alcoholic ward, but he didn't like what she cooked.

Three days after we moved into our wonderful new home he came to supper and he has been here ever since. He has to have calves' brains for breakfast and expects soup at supper. My husband wants neither, thus my days are spent in the kitchen cooking two different breakfasts and suppers.

My husband doesn't quibble about the expense, though Dad has money himself but never offers to pay. If I protest, Dad gets mad and says he knows what's right. My mother thinks we owe him a home, no matter how he acts, because he's my father. My sister won't take him back. My husband and I would like to start a family of our own but I'd go crazy trying to care for a baby and my father and run a home. Should I accede to my parents' wishes at the expense of my happiness, my husband, and my future family? —Trying-to-Do-Right

Dear Trying: Your parents are both unfair. Your husband comes first. Granted you have a responsibility to your father, but so does your sister. She should help you find a suitable place for him to live, either in a home for the elderly, or with a practical nurse. For your husband's sake be firm. It's your home. A father has no right to complicate your life at this late date, especially at the risk of destroying your marriage.

Dear Helen: My husband and I have spent the 40 years of our married life saving toward our old age. Now, through his gullibility, all our savings are gone. A neighbor and her son talked him out of his stocks and bonds. This same pair set fire to our broom factory and forged my name to collect the insurance. My husband just sits and broods. I don't know what to do. —Peniless

Dear Peniless: If what you say is true, by all means get a lawyer. Even without money, a lawyer will represent you. If you do not know of a lawyer, ask your local bar association or the local legal aid society.

Dear Helen: My parents say I'm too young to know about love. Yet, though only 16, I do. For every time Jack comes into the room, chills run up and down my back. We've been friends since grade school but now it's something far more. We are both Mormons and active in our church. He plans to attend college and go on a mission. My mother says he's too old for me (he's 18) though she knows I like him — but not how much. I pray every night that James Wright and Tracy of Pine Bluff were also weekend guests.

gestions? —Suffering, Richmond, Utah

Dear Suffering: Have patience. If the boy is as nice as you say he is, he's worth waiting for. But give him a chance to finish college and complete his mission before marrying. Then the slight difference in your ages will not make any difference to your mother. Meanwhile, get on with your own education and content yourself with seeing him at the State House Parties.

Send your problem to Helen Wordn Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Our Fine Teen-Agers."

U. S. Hopes Others Come to Thailand

By TONY ESCODA

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The United States held out hopes today other Southeast Asia Treaty Organization powers would send forces to Thailand but Thai officials were reported satisfied American support is enough to ward off any Communist incursions from neighboring Laos.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia, said after an inspection tour of the border front that his men had the "situation well in hand."

Tanks were on the way from Hawaii with the buildup moving steadily toward a total strength of 5,000 men.

United States Ambassador Kenneth Young said the Americans would remain as long as the Red threat to this pro-Western kingdom existed and would welcome troops from other SEATO nations joining them.

With the exception of France, all other members of the eight-nation anti-Communist alliance have indicated a willingness to send token forces if Thailand asks for them.

The Thai government called on the Americans but there has been no report further help would be sought from others, at least at this time.

The Laotian border was quiet, but the Communist bloc warned the massing of American troops along the frontier threatened to stir up trouble.

The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda warned the American landings in Thailand may "cause retaliatory action from the other side."

The Peiping People's Daily, official voice of Red China, charged the American troop movements "constitute a serious threat to the security of China."

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the man whom both the West and East hope will take Laos out of the cold war, said the American troops in Thailand posed no threat to Laos even though he regretted they were sent there.

Dutch Chase Troops From Indonesia

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP) — Dutch authorities today prepared to evacuate Dutch women and children from this island's western tip following an invasion by 120 Indonesian paratroopers.

Gov. P. J. Platteel announced that 120 women and children would be moved from the town of Teminabuan to the east coast of Vogelkop, the island's westernmost peninsula, and to the nearby island of Biak.

The announcement gave the first disclosure of the size of the paratroop landing Saturday.

It said some of the paratroopers dropped near Teminabuan have withdrawn under attack and that the Dutch garrison had rushed up reinforcements.

The Dutch said an army unit stationed in Teminabuan "launched a rapid aggressive action," killing the Indonesian commander and another parachutist and wounding three. The Dutch said they had no losses.

The Indonesian news agency Antara claimed Indonesian guerrillas had captured the town of Demta, 50 miles west of Hollandia.

Entry in Princess Contest

Mary Helen Adam

ANOTHER ENTRY IN THE POULTRY PRINCESS CONTEST to be held here Friday night is Miss Mary Helen Adam, aged 19, daughter of Mrs. Miriam Adam of Prescott. She is five feet ten inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has blond hair and blue eyes and measures 39-24-38. Miss Adam likes water sports, reading, dancing and twirling.

Antara said heavy fighting continued around Fakfak, south of Vogelkop, and Kaimana, on the south coast. It said Fakfak was under continuous guerrilla harassment and most of its population had been evacuated.

However, AP correspondent Hal McClure reported from Fakfak that life was proceeding there as usual.

Antara claimed 18 Dutch marines were killed last Tuesday in a clash near Fakfak after hundreds of Indonesian paratroopers had been dropped in the area. The story was denied by G. W. J. Van Dyk, chief of the Netherlands Defense Ministry's information department. He said there had been no Dutch losses since the Indonesians began dropping paratroops into West New Guinea three weeks ago.

President Sukarno told cheering crowds in Jakarta Sunday night Indonesia is ready to meet force with force if the Dutch want to settle the West New Guinea dispute by arms.

French Told Military Is Inadequate

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the almost unreal exchange between John F. Kennedy and Charles de Gaulle the American President in effect has told the French president he has more mouth than muscle.

For almost 22 years—since the Germans smashed them in 1940—the French have been an inadequate military force in the world.

After the big war for years they couldn't even crush the Communists in Indochina, fought a half-hearted war, wouldn't send their draftees there, and finally in mortifying defeat had to abandon the colony.

Now they haven't been able to establish peace in Algeria.

And at no time since World War II, including now, have the French ever remotely been able to defend themselves from Russian attack, either with manpower or nuclear weapons, since they had no such weapons.

In these years the United States—with its bombers and nuclear power—has been for the French, as for the rest of Western Europe, the shield which deterred the Russians.

De Gaulle, who has always found it unbearable to think of France in a secondary or dependent condition, finds it unpalatable now even if it means abandoning reality and wrapping himself in the cocoon of dreams.

This week at a news conference, where the questions were prepared in advance, De Gaulle said the conditions under which France let the United States for years take responsibility for its protection are past.

De Gaulle, even though France along with the United States is part of Western Europe's NATO defense, envisioned a France relying primarily on her own defense with her own atomic weapons which she still must build.

This was like declaring France a third force in Europe where now there are only two forces: NATO and Russia.

There was unintended sadness in this. De Gaulle talked, as he always has, like a man who considered himself the architect of the French future for generations to come, as if his policy would be the lasting policy.

But, at 71, time is running out on him. He seems unable to realize, or perhaps prefers to ignore, the possibility his successors, whoever they are, could and probably would change the French direction.
